
Fig. 9. Left: cut of the VISIR raw images at 8.59 μm along the major axis of the dust shell for the three epochs. An expansion of the dusty material is clearly seen. Right: cut of the VISIR 2011 deconvolved images along the main axis of the dust shell for all filters.